IF THERE IS NO WHITE JEFFRIES WILL RETIRE FROM RING IN JUNE

Jim Jeffries, through his manager, Billy Delaney, says that if he is not challenged by a white man to fight for the world's championship title by the time he arrives in San Francisco next June he will retire from the ring forever and never re-enter it. Jeffries says he is tired of stage life, but would like to engage in just one more battle before he retires. The fighter he names is Marvin Hart, should the latter beat Jack Johnson in their battle to-night. Jeffries under no circumstances will fight anegro. This is final. He further states that, while the public and the press are strong in their demands, they could not induce him to fight a negro no matter how hard they tried. Jeffries says he has considerable money and property and will never see the day that he will be in want after he retires.

EDGRENS SOME JIU-JITSU TRICKS OF HIGASHI, WHO IS MATCHED WITH BOTHNER.

MES JEFFRIES is nearly in town Just at present he is playing Davy Crocket in Jersey City. The nears of the great champion of all he champions has stirred up all sorts of fighting talk. From Higashi to Jack nsing, away out on the Pacific slope, they are defying the big fellow. None the fat men who have been pestering John L. Sullivan in their challenges ned his attention to Jeffries as yet, but undoubtedly some of the 300 ders will be heard from next week en James comes across the river and up in New York.

s J. Jeffries occupies an entirely position among fighting men. J. Edward Brict, who is a pretty good one if, can have all the matches he So can any of the other little rs. good, bad and indifferent. But Others treadled our nation's great-st tragedy.

A few veterans, together with some State officials, were standing over the box when the Highlanders joined, and it was worth missing supper to see those old warriors' faces. Some cried openly, others brushed a sleeve over the beaution of the Eighth Mississippi in Pickett's charge hugged the blood-standed tattered remnant, gave the "rebbel yell" and carried on so that his friends had to admonish him. Some of the flags were simply a network of holes pierced by builets in a hundred places, a couple were fastened

The Capitel the Best Thing

The Capitol the Real Thing.

In regard to the Capitol building the clerk was under weight. New York City would be proud to own it, being the inception of Titans and the handiwork of jewelers. The structure resembles the National Capitol, is built entirely of marble, white, pink and green, and cost around $1,000,000. The same thing in Albany would easily have trimmed the taxpayers $25,000,000.

While inspecting this marble wonder the boys heard that a bunch of Confederate battle flags had just been received from the War Department and were about to be opened. Without mentioning any names, it may be said that the six most intelligent men on the team took a chance of missing supper, while others thought more of the pie counter than a scene that recalled our nation's greatest tragedy.
